The alleged adulterer, Brawley, has long been known as a prominent Democratic politician in the State of Pennsylvania, and is said to be a friend of Preddent Buchanan.

After reciting the facts in the case the complaint prays that the marriage may be dissolved and a divorce granted.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS—SEPT. 25.—Before

But little business was done this morning beyond the trial of one arraigned criminal, and that was brief and devoid of special interest. Peter G. Develin, the man who besame so notorious a short time since in connection with various eriminal disclosures by his mistress, Ann Carey, was put upon trial, indicted for burglary in the first degree. The burglary was alleged to have been committed some time between the 25th of Jaly and the 6th of August, 1856, on the premises of Hervey Warren, No. 6! West Thirty sixth street. A young man by the name of McCabe, has already been convicted for participation in the same burglary, and is now in the State Prison upon that conviction. The indictment against Develin has been found since McCabe's sentence. The proof left no doubt that a burglary had been committed, but the only circumstance connecting Develin with their time was that one violin, a part of the property burglariously taken, was shown to have been in the possession of the accused shortly after the hurglary.
But Develin repelled the criminality of this circumstance, by ahowing that he had honearly purchased this of McCabe. The grisoner keeps a Concert Hall in the Eighth avenue. As there was no proof whether the burglary was committed in the day or night time, the family, with the owner, being absent at the time, the Court charged the jury, that under the evidence, it could be no more than burglary in the third degree; and if they believed the testimony that the violin had been, or might have been purchased in good faith, there was no orime at all—the prisoner was entitled to all the doubts. The jury retired a short time, and returned, announcing a verdier of "Not guilty."

Here the Grand Jury entered the Court-room, and announced that they had iniabed all business before them. The amount of labor they have done was stated by the District-Attorney to have been quite unexampled. They were then discharge with the thanks of the Court.

COMMERCIAL MATTERS.

FRIDAY, Sept. 25-P. M. We should probably have had rather a better feel-ing in the Stock Market this morning, but for the advices of the culmination of the financial troubles in Philadelphia, in the suspension of some of the leading banks there, and aren upon the others. The suspension of the Bank of Pennsylvania was known early, and that information had a serious influence upon Stock transactions at the Board. Stocks were pressed in large quantities upon the market for cash, and a general de cline was submitted to. The time operations are very few. At the Second Board, the advices of further disasters tended to repress the reaction which might naturally have been expected. The changes from vesterday are, Erie declined ? F cent; Reading, under orders to sell from Philadelphia, 5 P cent; N. Y. Central, 21 F cent; Galena, 3 F cent; Rock Island, which advanced yesterday 7 to cent, fell off to-day 5 2 & cent; Michigan Southern, 1 & cent; Pennsylva nia Ccal, 1 & cent; Pittsburgh, 3 & cent; Milwaukee and Mississippi, 11 & cent; La Crosse, 21 & cent; Cumberland, 11 P cent, &c. Illinois Central was among the steadiest stocks, under orders to purchase about 1,500 shares for English account, received by the last steamer. Delaware and Hudson was steady. The changes in State stocks are less marked than in other descriptions sold to-day. Missouri 6's sold to considerable extent at 70, about the previous price. N.Y.5's, 1858 at 961; California, 54 2541; Louisiana 6s, 80; Vir ginias, 841 a 841. &c. The sales of Railroad Bonds vere to moderate extent and prices tend downwardin the lack of public confidence in these securities the good and the bad suffer together. Erie 3d Mortgage sold at 50. At this rate this road, with an expenditure of $38,000,000 and earling $5,500,000, is selling for $10,000,000. After the Second Board there was but little doing in the street, and the market, although gloomy, was without important change. The rates of Foreign Exchange are unsettled and the business very small. This difficulty of negotiating bills embarrasses the movement of produce, and may result in the importation of gold to pay for breadstuffs. We are told that already some parcels of gold are on the way from Liverpool for this purpose. The range of Sterling is 51 to 71 P cent, with but few transations at over ? & cent. The supply of bills is large, and to make sales bankers are in many cases obliged to take short bills receivable in payment.

Freights are less active. To Liverpool the engagements include Flour at 1s. 6d.; 22,000 bush. Grain at 5d. @6d.; 1,800 bales Cotton at 3 16 @7-32d.; 25 boxes Manufactured Tobacco at 2s. To Bremen: 340 hhds. Sugar at 27s. 6d. A schooner with Lumber yellow pine) from Orange River, Florida, to New-York at $8.

The business of the Sub-Treasury was: Receipts 122,881 10; Payments, $297 361 19; Balance, $9,-847,440 00. Among the payments to-day was $200,-000 for purchasers of stocks by the Department of the Interior, on account of Indian trusts.

The financial storm which has been impending at Philadelphia for some time past broke this morning. The contraction of the Banks there has been sharp and very considerable, and the consequence has been the failure of their largest debtors. Crippled by this and by the drain of gold from their vaults to this city, a portion of them have been unable to sustain themelves. The Bank of Pennsylvania, one of the oldest banks in the United States, stopped payment this merning, and immediately a run was commenced on the other Banks. The Girard suspended spraetically during the morning, paying specie only for its small notes, is and 10s. The City, Merchants', Commercial and Sixpenny Savings' Bank adopted the same course. It is hoped that they will resume to-morrow, but this is not probable. The Girard has been in trouble before, and the Bank of Pennsylvania has been looked upon as dangerous by some far-seeing financiers for several years. The excitement in Philadelphia was of course intense, but it is hoped by the indulgence of the large debtors the remaining banks may sustain themselves. The Cashier of one of them left here to-night with $100,000 reports but once a year, up to 30th November, and have no concert of action and no Clearing-House, it is impossible for the public to know anything of their condition, and in this state of ignorance a panic upon rumors of trouble becomes a matter of course. With us the weekly reports of the Clearirg House keep the public fully advised of the position of each bank, and when prudently managed a paric is almost impossible. We understand that the Banks in Philadelphia which have suspended to-day have always been the most urgent opposers of the establishment of a Clearing-House in that city. Meanwhile these failures have had no effect here to create alarm for our banks. The reaction is more likely to be felt in Boston and Providence with which cities Philadelphia has a large business. The effect here has been to make all Pennsylvania funds unsalable, and nearly all Philadelphia and Penesylvania banks are thrown out for the present by the uncurrent money banks.

As far as the street is concerned, we see but little difference in money. The stock houses find but little difficulty in supplying their wants. In the discount houses, however, business was nearly at a stand to day. Rates for paper were nominally as before; but, to make sales, much higher rates must have been submitted to. The market is too unsettled for quotations.

We hear of no important failures in this city. The Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad Company will pay at their office, No. 37 William street, in this city, interests to the amount of ever $100,600, due on the 1st day of October, on the Income Bonds of the Ohio and Pennsylvania Railroad Company, the Second Mortgage Bonds of the Ohio and Indiana Railroad Company, and the Real Estate Mortgage Bonds of Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad Company.

Advices from Hartford are to the purport that the failure of the Hartford County Bank has had no material effect upon the other banks of that city, and that more cheerful feeling is observable.

The business of the Clearing-House goes on very favorably. None of our banks are now in need of any assistance. The business of to day was very light-only $15,900,000.

The railroad bridge over the Allegheny River at Pittsburgh, connecting the Pennsylvania Central with the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, has been completed, and trains passed ever on Monday last. This structure, which is the work of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Company, has been in progress for over two years, and has cost, with its approaches, near $250,000, exclusive of the right of way, and grounds adjacent to the bridge required for the use of the road. The bridge is 1,900 feet in length, largely to the facility and economy of interchanging business between the two important roads of which it is the connecting link. This link being now supplied, t only remains to complete the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Road from Plymouth to Chicago 82 miles), and there will be a continuous line of railroad of 818 miles, on the most direct route from Philadelphia to Chicago.

The Hatlem Railroad, after October 1st, will raise its rates of freight. On the article of milk, of which brings to market 64 millions of gallons, the rate will be advanced to 4c. & gallon instead of 3c., thus securing $65,000 from this item. The long cars will also stop up town, thus diminishing the expenses without sacrificing receipts. The entire business of the Harlem s now managed with great attention and efficiency.

The bills of the Honesdale Bank, Honesdale, Pa., are redeemed as usual by Carpenter & Vermilyea, No. 44 Wall street, at 1 F cent discount, and at no time has their redemption been interrupted, either at their own counter or in New-York. The Ellenville Journal denies the report of the uspension of the Ellenville Glass Works. The Boston papers announce several failures, among which are Wm. T. Brett & Brother, dry goods dealers, on Federal street, and A. Skelley, shoe dealer, The Rochester Sixpenny Savings Bank has closed its doors; Mr. Belden, the acting manager, has also suspended on his private account. The new circular of the Secretary of the Treasury, which we annex, will tend to bring out Government Stocks for redemption before the 1st of November. and thus deplete the Sub-Treasury at once when the coin is reeded by our banks. As the bid of the Secretary is the only support of the Government Stocks at present prices, there will probably be considerable amounts sent in at once by parties holding for investment, who will propose to buy in again after the 1st of November at lower figures.

The disastrous pante in New York has caused holders of American securities some anxiety. The bolders of the securities of New York has caused holders of American securities some anxiety. The bolders of the securities of New York central, Michigan Central, Hillinois Central, Reading, Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio, and Little Miant Rallroads, have purchased these securities on their merits, and as their accounts are full and dear, the position of all of them is well understood.

The absence of proper accounts in the Michigan Southern has destroyed conflidence in the management, but not in the position of the line for bosiness.

Attention has been called to the perniclous effects of the system of "floating debts." This system at one time prevailed in England, but was abeliabed by Parliament, and so unnifest are the evils of the system in America, that hereafter the absence of a floating debt will be a primary condition for fixture investers for money in Rallroad Stocks.

The Hartford Times says:
"The Bank of HartfordCounty having closed its doors on account of holding more 'long' paper than any other bank in the city, the other banks are relieved from the bank in the city, the other banks are reneved from the burden of helping it along. Careful investigation ha been made into the condition of every other bank is heen made into the condition of every other bank in the city, and it is known that every one of them is sound. They have reduced their circulation the past three weeks more than one million of dollars, and they are in a condition which forbids the idea of a suspen-

The money market and financial disasters of the citizens are given in the annexed extracts from the exchanges:

There has been more quiet in the Money market for the past two or three days—not the result, however, of any abatement of the street rates of paper or of the demand for capital on mercantile bills. The quiet alluded to is the result of an entire wiping out of credit. There is scarcely such a thing left in the market. Nothing hat money or its equivalent will now alluded to is the result of an entire wiping out of credit. There is scarcely such a thing left in the market. Nothing but money or its equivalent will now command consideration. The consequence is, exertion is being paralyzed, and there may be danger of failures from a want of it. When the strongest house find themselves embarrassed, and many who have maintained a high character are obliged to suspend, there is danger that some yield to the prevailing epidemic who might have stood by making greater efforts. Nothing but the sternest necessity can justify a suspension when there are sufficient assets to meet every liability. Every man should look his position fully in the face. If he is insolvent, if his liabilities are greater than or equal to his assets, and his affairs are growing worse, he should stop at once and make an equal division of his property. But if he is solvent, if his balance is largely on the right side, and the alternative of suspension is no longer a question of final payment, but of great present pecuniary sacrifice, he should go on at any cost short of risking his means to pay in full. A man of large property has no right to shut down upon his creditors because he cannot pay without making heavy sacrifices.

From The Philosdephia Bulletia of the 25th.

The Bank of Pennsylvania this morning determined to suspend specie payments, and the announcement caused considerable commotion in the streets. A run was commenced on several of the other banks, but they met the demand promptly, and paid out the specie as fast as poscible.

The official notice of the suspension of the Bank of Pennsylvania is as follows:

The official notice of the suspension of the Bank of Pennsylvania is as follows:

Bank of Pennsylvania, }

Philadelphia, Sept. 25, 1837, }

This Bank having been compelled to temporarily suspend specie payments, the Hoard of Directors assure all persons having claims against the Bank, whether of circulation, deposit or otherwise, that no loss can rossnat voccura.

By order and on behalf of the Board of Directors.

THOS. ALLIBONE, President.

The suspension of the Penrsylvania Bank, the rua The suspension of the Pennsylvania Bank, the rua upon the other banking institutions, and the general distruct which exists, has completely unsettled the Stock market, and prices of all descriptions are lower and unsettled. The feeling throughout was most gleomy, and at the clore there were no fixed quotations. In Exchange there is nothing doing, and trade in all departments is temporarily suspended.

In another column The Bulletin gives a picture of the run on the Banks, from which we extract:

the run on the Banks, from which we extract:

The rumors which have been in circulation for a few days concerning some of our city Banks have had the effect of creating such a feeling of uneasiness that a "run" was commenced this morning on most of the institutions. Note holders were desirous of obtaining specie for their paper, and some of the depositors became scared and withdrew their deposits. At several of the Banks, including the Bank of Pennsylvania, crowds commenced gathering as soon as the doors were opened, and the Tellers had their hands full exchanging and and silver for paper. The Banks rechanging gold and silver for paper. The Banks re-deemed, their notes as fast as they were offered, but througs of explous lookers on occupied the sidewaks affairs during the foreseed the extraordinary position of affairs during the foreseen.

The Bank of Pennsylvania opesed in the morning, but the district of the state of the s

The Bank of Pennsylvania opesed in the morning, but the doors were soon closed again. This course attracted a great crewd of persons, and the street was throughed during the merging. The outside gates on Second and Lodge streets were closed, except to persons who had business at the institution, and the following notice was pinned upon the railing:

Bank or Pennsylvania.

Besided, That the Bank suspend specie payments until further action of the Bank.

During the day, up to the time we go to press, as though half the male population of the town were in the vicinity of the banks, the streets were througed and policemen were scattered along to keep the crowd moving in the gargways in order.

At several of the Bank shere were many who repaired to the receiving tellers desk with new deposits, and we have no doubt that some of the specie drawn on the spur of the moment found its way back again through the hands of the receiving tellers. At all of the Banks and the provided for the use of customers vanished with a rapidity at which the pompous runners stared.

From The Cincinnati Commercial of the 23d.

The Banks and Bank houses are well supplied with coin and currency, but are unwilling to loan on any but perfectly undoubted securities, such as they regard safe and certain as doubloons.

The checks and certificates of the Trust Company

The checks and certificates of the Trust Company we still quote at 50c.

The last Chicago papers say that owing to a heavy run made upon the banking house of Messrs. Herron Bros, at Dubuque, Iowa, last week, and to the failure of their Eastern correspondents, and to the suspension of Carter & Co. of Galena, the institution was obliged to close its doors and to make an assignment on Viday. Their assets amount to $175,000, while their labili-

Their assets amount to $175,000, while their leabifities do not exceed $100,000. Of these assets the lover-drafts and over-due notes amount to $45,000; bills payable within the next three months about $20,000, beside casb on hand.

From The Cincinnati Gazette of Sept. 23.

But for the mismanagement of the Trust Company Agercy in New-York, and the consequent explosion of the cencern, it is not likely that a single failure of importance would have taken place in Cincinnati or any other Western city. It is a remarkable fact that almost every banker and merchant that have given way to the pressure in the West, can trace their troubles, directly or indirectly, to the Trust Company. The Citizens Bank, for example, had $95,000 in the Trust Company. The Central Bank suspended in consequence of the suspension of Bebee & Co., and the latter were broken down by the Trust Company. Lyle of Detroit failed because he had a large balance in the Trust Company. James Carter of Galena failed because he had $80,000 in the Trust Company. The State Bank of Ohio has been compelled to withhold accommodations from its customers, because it had a million and a half locked up by the Trust Company, collaterally, thousands have been ruit ed or incommoded by that failure, and to it, as already remarked, almost every failure or suspension that has taken place in the West is traceable. What an aggregation of loss, trouble, veration and suffering is thus attributable to the bankruptcy of one concern; and how exceedingly provoking to think of this when it is known to have been brought about by the care-lessness, reckleseness or dishonesty of one man, with the knowledge of, or through the negligence of others, whose duty it was to direct the opperations of the Cashier. But the Trust Company, with its capital of two millions, has floated off before the fortune-destroying wind that has weeked the hopes of many speciators, whose duty it was to direct the operations of the Cashier. But the Tru rate, the outside the brokers' rate for checks. Tennessee money is improving.

From The Müscuskee American, Sept 22.

Trade has not been affected by any commercial disaster, yet a good deal of embarrassment is felt. Two Banks have suspended, the Rock River, in consequence of New-York failures, and the Farmers' of Hudson, Wis., in consequence of its capital being berrowed on worthless securities, viz: La Crosee Cerruption Bonds. This Bank has assigned, and the bill holders in both Banks are safe.

From The St. Lovis Republican, Sept 22.

There was visible relief in all departments of our city's business yesterday, notwithstanding the heaviness of the weather. The arrivals of coin to our Banks have commenced, and before the week ends we shall have heavy additions. Money—and good money—in considerable sums is coming in from the country.

country. From The Providence Journal, Sept. 21.

There was no change in the money market yester-day. It was no easier, and it could not be closer. Any rate was offered for short loans, but there were Any rate was offered for short loans, but there were few transactions.

From The Boston Traveler, Sept. 24.

Money affairs are without special variation, though we hear of some negotiations of the best commercial paper, outside of the banks, at 1½ P cent a month.

The banks are fast being reenforced in their specie reserves, and are discounting with more freedom. New-York funds are getting more pleaty, which will bring the specie from Wall street. The market lacks the usual remittances from the West—which, how-bring the specie from Wall street. The market lacks the usual remittances from the West—which, however, teems with abundance, giving assurances for the future most cheering and satisfactory.

The demand for money is very active, and the discount rates for prine indorsed paper are still 2, 2½ 202½ oven 4° month. We understand that money has been offering more freely within the last day or two than for some time previously, and a large amount of paper has been negotiated at the quotations. It is worthy of remark, and we note it as a proof of the general solvency of the business of our city, that although a pressure of almost unexampled severity has existed for some four or five weeks, only one or two failures have taken place.

From The N. O. Picayuna, 18th.

existed for some four or five weeks, only one of two failures have taken place.

From The N. O. Picayana, 12th.

Money is in quick demand, and the banks are scarcely able to respond to the legitimate requirements of trade. A good deal of paper is thrown out, which appears on the street at 12 2 18 ½ cent, and it is difficult to obtain money on the best signature under 12. Some parties are carrying strong collaterals at rounder rates than this.

The Exchange market is unsettled, and rates have a decided tendency to drop. The best Sterling, if pressed, would be hard to sell at 108, though casual bills may command a fraction more. In Francs there was nothing of note done. We quote from 5.31½ 5.27½. A very heavy sale was made yesterday, something like 1 300,000 francs, but we did not learn the rate. Sixty days bills on New-York sell with difficulty at 2½ 3 3 ½ cent discount. Sight takes so wide a range that there is hardly any quotation for it. Sales were that there is hardly any quotation for it. Same were made from 11 or cent premium in bank all the way down to 1, and some we believe might have been bought at par.

To the Editor of The N. Y. Tribune.

FRENCHTOWN, N. J., Sept. 24, 1857.

Sire: In your daily issue of the 23d inst., I notice you have published a list of the suspended banks in New Josey, in which you include the Union Bank at Frenchtown. We wish you to correct that statement, as it is wholly incorrect, the bank never having suspended for a moment, but has always store its establishment, assumed to stabilishment. since its establishment promptly redeemed its circulation, which is also secured by a deposit of State stocks in the State Treasurer's office of New-Jersey, which deposit at this time is more than 40 st cent over the outstanding circulation.

Yours, very respectfully,

N. D. WILLIAMS,

Cashier Union Bank, Frenchtown.
